

CRISIS MANAGEMENT /

Don't just manage and survive;
navigate and lead.

---

Our team has provided leadership through some of the nation's darkest moments. Whether in the wake of terrorist attacks, war or economic crises of staggering proportions, our team has a track record of sound strategic thinking and decisive action that is second to none.

John Ashcroft and David Ayres together have faced the terrorist attacks of September 11th, and the unprecedented corporate scandals that shook the foundations of the global economy. They have advised and assisted the president, foreign leaders and corporate executives around the world successfully respond to some of the most serious security and financial crises and litigation challenges of the past two decades. The team they have assembled shares their unparalleled experience and commitment to leading your organization through whatever crises you face.