

NATIONAL SECURITY /

We've helped guide the Nation.
Now, let us help guide your organization.

Our team's deep, firsthand experience in combating terrorism and protecting our nation gives us and our clients – a strategic advantage in evaluating and navigating the homeland security and law enforcement marketplace.

We are a team of professionals who led the Department of Justice and the Department of Homeland Security, in the wake of national crises including September 11th. We have a comprehensive understanding of the programs, policies, and personnel involved in all aspects of national security work.

Our knowledge and relationships ensure that we offer the insights and forward movement our clients need in order not just to understand, but to excel in the business side of selling products as well as providing new ways for clients to protect their assets and intellectual property.
